Deadline extended for local grant applications

Local nonprofits: There's still time to get your application in to receive grant funds in the North Brown Community Foundation's initial round of grant-giving. The deadline has been extended to Friday, Feb. 21, 2020.

The NBCF, which supports community needs in the geographic area covered by the Frederick Area School District, will have more than $2,700 available to give in grants this year.

The application was in the Dec/Jan issue of F.Y.I., or it can be downloaded from fredericksd.com/nbcf.

Grantees and donors will be recognized at the organization's annual meeting on Tuesday, March 10. Watch for details on the FrederickSD Facebook page.

The fund also had remarkable end-of-year fundraising, bringing the total raised in 2019 to $15,320. The organization is 83 percent of the way to reaching its challenge goal of raising $150,000 over three years.

Now's the time to consider snow fence placement

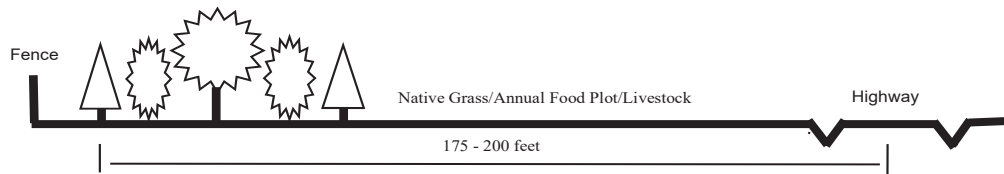

People in our area spend a lot of time and energy keeping roads clear each winter. Another way to get the same result is through snow fences—building fences of wood or plastic, strategically placing cattle panels, or planting living snow fences (tree rows) to keep the snow off the road. These options take some time and energy also, but those resources are spent in milder weather. In the case of a living snow fence, the planting can be done in one year, and the benefits last for years to come.

Here is some information from the South Dakota Department of Agriculture about living snow fences. Some cost sharing may be available.

Living snow fences are tree and shrub windbreaks strategically planted in critical locations to prevent road closure caused by drifting snow. Windbreaks have been proven effective in protecting farmsteads and livestock from harsh winter winds and blowing snow. A properly designed living snow fence will cause snow to accumulate within and adjacent to the snow fence and not on the road. There are several advantages to using living plants instead of traditional slatted snow fences:

1. Improved snow control due to greater snow storage capacity.
2. Longer life span than slatted snow fences.
3. Can be designed to provide winter livestock protection.
4. Provide and enhance wildlife habitat.
5. Aid in soil erosion control.
6. Sequester carbon to reduce atmospheric carbon dioxide.
7. More aesthetically pleasing than slatted snow fence.
8. Relatively maintenance free once established.
9. About ten times cheaper to install and maintain than slatted snow fence, based on cost comparisons over the expected life of a living snow fence.
10. Reduced snow removal costs.

Living snow fences have a few disadvantages: they require more space than slatted fences and they can take three to five years after planting to be effective. Living snow fences must be protected from livestock.

DESIGN & LOCATION: To be effective, a living snow fence must be properly designed and located with respect to the highway in need of protection. A living snow fence that is placed wrong may not do an adequate job of protecting the road and may even cause snow to accumulate on the road. The windward row should be located no closer than 175 feet from the centerline of the road. This will allow adequate room for snow storage during severe blizzards. The planting needs to be extended 100 feet beyond the area protected to prevent snow from sweeping around the ends of the planting. At least two rows of conifers (junipers) and a shrub row are needed to provide a dense and effective barrier. —South Dakota Department of Agriculture brochure, 2010

School explores new playground possibilities

BY JESSICA RINGGENBERG
Frederick Area K-8 Principal

Welcome 2020! I am sure you all are as sick of the cold, snowing, and blowing as I am, so this month I am trying to have warmer thoughts. This month, and for many more to come, I am thinking about playing outside and the conditions of our playground. As I am sure many of you are aware, our beloved play space is in need of some updates. There is much work to be done including digging, moving equipment, bringing in fill, removing worn out equipment, and replacing existing structures. The spark comes from an insurance/safety analysis that was done last fall. Currently, we are visiting with some design companies and gathering estimates for the potential overhaul. It is very exciting to see what possibilities they can come up with for our space!

PRINCIPAL'S CORNER

On other notes, as a winter weather reminder, if you have recently obtained or changed cell phone numbers, please remember to get that information to the office so it can be updated in our all-call system. Calls for this system are still touch and go it seems, but texts have been much more reliable. If you have a cell phone, but are not receiving our weather text information, please be sure to text "Yes" to 67587.

This will only work if your cell phone number is already in the system to receive calls. If you have troubles, feel free to call the office and we can review your information in order to get you set up. Also, if you are not following us on Facebook, please consider it. This is a great source to get the most current information and updates for all things Frederick Area. You can find us by searching Frederick Area School District on your Facebook page.

I wish you all a wonderful 2020 with hopes of warmer weather and fun times to come!

Historical Society plans more upgrades

BY MITCHELL MIKKONEN

We would like to thank our members, donors, and volunteers who help keep the Frederick Area Historical Society (FAHS) mission alive and well.

One of our main areas of focus over the past few years has been to make our building structurally sound and the property visually appealing. The Fylpaa building serves as the museum and FAHS meeting hall. It is one of the few original buildings on Main Street still standing and is one of the first buildings you notice when you drive into Frederick.

We take a lot of pride in the renovations that have been made on the property and in doing our part to keep Frederick beautiful.

Following is a list of upgrades that have been made in the past few years.

- Exterior of the building has been completely re-sided
- Many of the windows have been upgraded
- A new roof has been added
- A new sidewalk, ramp, and steps were completed
- Installed a special needs hand railing with wheelchair access
- Reinforced the building with support beams and floor jacks
- Upgraded water and sewer pipes
- Replaced old floor with simulated

hardwood

- Installed signage on the west and southside of the building
- Upgraded outside electrical service to the Fylpaa building
- Added electrical service to Senn Schoolhouse

The next big project is to hard wire electric service into the Senn Schoolhouse so interior renovations can begin. The schoolhouse is a one-room building that was moved from its country setting to our property in Frederick.

Our volunteers and local members stay busy sorting and filing various artifacts, pictures and memorabilia that are shared or donated by people who were former residents of Frederick or have some connection to the community.

Since all of our funding is from our members and donors, it is imperative that we are transparent and provide full disclosure with the funds we have been entrusted with. Our volunteers try to do as much work as is possible, but we do rely on licensed and bonded professionals to make sure our organization is in compliance with local, state and federal guidelines as well as 501(c)(3) statutes.

Once again, we are so grateful for your support and take pride in knowing that we are making a difference in our community with the gifts you provide.

Speaker asks students to be the best version of themselves

BY KAYLIN ACHEN
FASD Journalism

Tom Coverly, a speaker from Florida, was in South Dakota from Jan. 6–10 going to area schools giving various presentations. Coverly came to Frederick Area High School on Jan. 6 to discuss self-image, respect of others, and acceptance to the Frederick and Leola high school student bodies.

Coverly showed the crowd illusions and how we see ourselves through illusions when people look at something and compare themselves to it.

His sharing of experiences and stories brought out emotional reactions in some students.

“It brought tears to my eyes when he told his personal stories,” eighth-grader Laura Sumption said.

Swallowing one’s self pride can take people far in the future. After the assembly everyone was coming together with apologies, hugs, tears, and happiness.

“I turned toward friends and other school students apologizing and hugging them all individually,” said Kaylin Achen, a junior, after the assembly.

School play is March 6

By HANNAH SCHULTZ
FASD Journalism

The Frederick Area School District play will be presented to the public Friday, March 6. There will be a matinee performance at 2 p.m. on Friday followed by an evening performance at 5:30 p.m. Nine students are in the production, ranging from the cast to the crew.

“I like that more people are trying to get into the play,” said Anna Brotzel, who was also in the play last year. “There are more parts, which makes everyone more involved.”

The play is called “The Internet is Distract– OH LOOK A KITTEN”. It is about a girl who is trying to finish her paper on “The Great Gatsby” and gets distracted by every little thing on the internet. The play is a comedy, so hopefully everyone gets a good kick out of it.

OLD BUSINESS included Utility Manager Bakeberg's report stating the January water samples have been collected and sent to the lab and he will take care of the quarterly report when due. Rich stated he will be MIA for a few weeks and gave instructions in his absence.

Other Old Business included serving final notices to overly overdue utility accounts, and giving FO Bruns permission to pay bills that would include penalties if due before meeting date. Motion was made by JK/TM. Motion Carried.

Nickelson and Voeller questioned the snow removal process in Frederick. The last 18" snow dump was just too much to get their complete road open at the time by our mostly volunteer snowplowers. It was agreed their road will get opened but probably not all the way to old Hwy 10.

NEW BUSINESS included the 4th Quarter Report and Yearend Report for the Emma Burnham Library which was accepted with a motion by TM//JK. Motion Carried.

A letter from the Dept of Transportation was noted stating the grant applied for to do a Main St sewer line was denied. Thirty applicants applied for projects totaling over $14.5 million, the DOT had only $4.0 million at their disposal.

Frederick will have a 2-year Board Member vacancy and a 3-year Board Member vacancy. The election date if needed is the 2nd Tuesday of April. Petitions are available in the Finance Office beginning January 31.

A lighting proposal for the Community Center was submitted to the board from JM Electric for review. No action was taken.

A mixture of sand and salt for the streets was discussed.

In correspondence the Municipal Government Day in Pierre on February 5, 2020, was noted; Hydro-Klean of Watertown and Pipemasters of SF combined businesses; and SDARWS 45th Annual meeting is January 15, 2020 also in Pierre, SD.

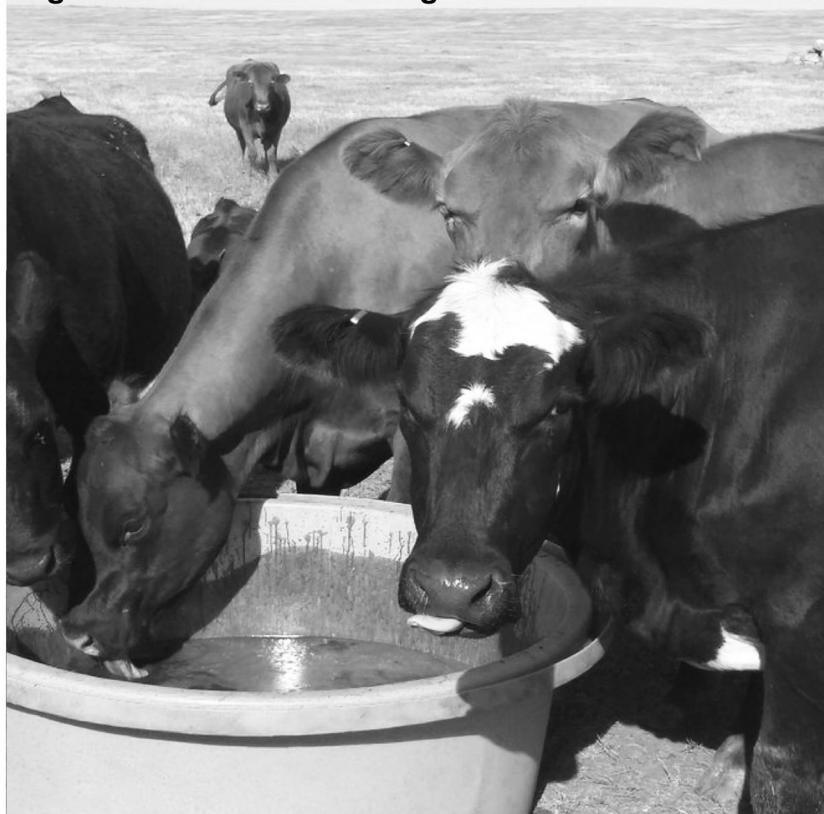

A motion was made by JK/TM to adjourn the meeting at 8:01 PM. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, February 12, 2020, 7 PM, in the Frederick Community Center.

JUNIOR HIGH GIRLS BASKETBALL

Eighth-graders straddle levels

BY ISAAC SUMPTION
FASD Journalism

The junior high girls basketball team consisted of sixth-, seventh-, and eighth-grade girls, but most of the eighth-graders moved up to the JV and varsity program with three weeks remaining of the junior high season, which ended Dec. 13.

Without most of the eighth-graders, the sixth- and seventh-graders had to step up and fill in their place. "Throughout the season, the younger girls really learned the game and how it works," said Coach Sarah Sumption. She also explained how the team learned not only about the game and individual strengths, but also their teammates strengths.

Coach Sumption said the highlight of the year for the eighth-grade team was just watching them succeed time and time again during the season. A highlight for the sixth- and seventh-grade team was how they worked hard and came together as a team.

Junior high split into 'A' and 'B' squads this year

By Jake Kenser
FASD Journalism

The junior high boys started on Jan. 2, giving them a week of practices before their first game of the season.

Instead of the regular split of seventh- and eighth-grade teams, due to the high number of players this season, they're splitting into "A" and "B" teams.

There are 21 players on the team. It consists of nine sixth-graders, three seventh-graders, and nine eighth-graders.

Coach Don Nickelson is in his second year coaching the junior high boys and is assisted by Bryson Thorpe and Warren Sumption.

The things Coach Nickelson is getting the boys to focus on most are ball movement and control, spacing, and moving without the ball.

"Offensively, we are working how to read and react to the opportunities the defense presents," he said. "In doing that, it helps them understand how to better position themselves defensively."

His goal is to create better habits for them that they can take with them and build upon at the next level.

Titans struggle through a learning season

BY ISAAC MORLOCK
FASD Journalism

The high school girls basketball team has taken their lumps so far this season. After 13 games, they are still trying to get their first win.

A big factor for the girls' struggles this year is the young players. Six eighth-grade players have seen a substantial amount of playing time in the varsity games.

"The girls' attitudes have been extremely good and have had a great work ethic despite what their record is," Coach Jeff Kusters said. He also said he is extremely thankful for his two assistant coaches, Sarah Sumption and Holly Lapka, as they have helped with the workload a lot.

Half of the girls who dress for varsity are eighth-graders. "Although they have a lot of potential, they are still eighth-graders going against juniors and seniors," Coach Kusters said. "The dues the girls are paying now will definitely help them a year or two from now."

BOYS BASKETBALL

Titans seek a new groove this year

BY HAYDN PODOLL FASD Journalism

The boys basketball team has started the season as expected. They have a record of 5-3 while competing with some very tough opponents in the early stages of the season.

"The team survived a tough

December, but we are looking to come out of this mid-January break refocused and ready to play solid basketball like we know we can," Coach Brock Pashen said. "As long as we are focused on ourselves and making ourselves better, we know that success and will come with it."

The team this year has a much different look and feel than last year. They are still trying to find their groove without a dominant physical post presence. The team has confidence and is looking forward to the rest of their season.
